

EARTH WEEK

April 19th-24th 2009

Sunday 19th

Critical Mass Bike Ride

1:00-2:00PM

Meet on the Square

Make a statement, wear green and take a ride around town.

Windmill Mania

Construction

1:00PM

East College Lawn

Competitors assemble their windmills for display.

Earth Celebration

Open Mic and Community Picnic

2:00-6:00PM

Nature Park Amphitheater

Bring your own utensils and share in live music

(Contact rdye@depauw.edu to participate in Open Mic)

Monday 20th

Campus Landfill

11:30-1:00PM

Academic Quad

Help sort trash and find out how much of DePauw's waste could be recycled.

Tuesday 21st

No-Parking Zone

8:00AM-4:00PM

Locust St. in front of Hub

A display discouraging gaz guzzling

Climate Change:

A Heated Discussion

4:00-5:00 PM

Julian 151

Come find out why not all Environmentalists agree.

Sex, Race and the Environment

6:00-7:30PM

East College Lawn

(rain location: Library Media Room)

Join us for an intimate conversation with differing views on social issues from the Compton Center, Feminista, CLC and DEC.

I SPY...

All week
keep your eyes open
for displays around campus!

Water
Recycling
Alternative Transportation
Renewable Energy

Wednesday 22nd

Big Walnut Cleanup

9:00AM and 1:30PM

Meet at either of these times

at the Nature Park Visitors Lot.

Get your hands dirty and make a direct, noticeable difference.

Good Eats Cookout

5:30-7:30PM

Patio outside the Hub

Dining Serves is providing delicious local and organic foods!

Alphabet Town

performing at 5:30PM

Come enjoy the free food and live music.

Interfaith Service

Led by Spiritual Life

11:45AM-1:00

Nature Park Amphitheater

Thursday 23rd

I ♥ Greencastle Water

9:00 AM -12:30 PM

Lawn outside the Hub

Bottled verses tap water

can you tell the difference?

"The Dream for a River"

4:30-5:00PM

Watson Forum

Watch a student produced documentary about the destruction of a sacred river.

Friday 24th

60 White Pines

9:00AM-11:30PM

Plant a difference with

Greencastle Middle School Students.

(RSVP to hannahamage_2011)

*All events are free and open to the public